ABOUT FAMILY BRIDGES

Family Bridges exists to end the cycle of family trauma through innovative programs that empower, equip, and encourage underserved communities. Rooted in biblical values and informed by scientific research, we help families flourish and raise purpose-driven children.

Founded by licensed clinical psychologist Dr. Alicia La Hoz, Family Bridges began as small gatherings serving Latino families in crisis and has grown into a global movement of community leaders, educators, counselors, and advocates.

Through culturally relevant workshops and curricula focused on communication, parenting, emotional wellness, and healthy relationships, we equip churches, schools, and organizations with practical tools that strengthen families and build resilient communities.

ABOUT Love Letters

Family Bridges proudly presents this year's gala theme: "Love Letters: The Legacy We Build Together." Inspired by the timeless tradition of love letters between couples, this theme celebrates the intentional acts of love, commitment, sacrifice, and communication that become the foundation of strong families and lasting legacies.

Just as love letters preserve heartfelt words across generations, healthy relationships create stories, values, and emotional connections that shape the future of families and communities. This evening will honor the power of love expressed through presence, perseverance, and purpose – the kind of love that strengthens marriages, nurtures children, heals generational wounds, and builds resilient communities.

Through this meaningful theme, Family Bridges invites sponsors, partners, and supporters to join us in investing in families whose stories are still being written. Together, we are helping build legacies of hope, healing, and transformation for generations to come.
